PREMIER TOJO, JAPANESE CABINET RESIGN

Assassin's Bomb Injures Hitler And Eight Staff Members

The War
Today...By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

WHATEVER OTHER IMPLICATIONS of the Japanese cabinet upheaval there may be, one thing stands out crystal clear: It represents recognition of the extreme peril in which the empire stands.

Beyond that we cannot go with certainty until we learn the complexion of the new cabinet. We shouldn't rush to conclusions.

If the militarists are returned to power—as seems quite possible—it will mean intensification of the war effort to escape the defeat which is bearing down on them from across the Pacific like a hurricane.

In the contingency of a moderate government being like a hurricane.

In the contingency of a moderate government being formed, shorn of the extreme military element which ex-Premier Tojo represents (and news dispatches say this isn't likely), it will mean that Nippon has decided to purge herself of the outward signs of barbaric aggression in an attempt to soften the Allied peace demands.

Japan, like Germany, knows without the shadow of a doubt that she is beaten. The only question remaining in her mind is how much she can salvage from the wreckage. The same is true of Hitlerdom. These two comrades in murder and pillage are walking the last mile together.

It's difficult to escape the thought that the Tokyo government crisis is associated with the disaster which is piling up on Herr Hitler. When Japan committed her savage treachery at Pearl Harbor she was hitching her war chariot to Hitler's blazing star. She gambled that he would win the European conflict, and thereby ensure a victory for Mikado. She knew that if Hitler lost, she would lose. And the Fuehrer, for his part, placed much dependence on the amount of Allied striking power which Japan would absorb.

The Prussian militarists fully recognize their defeat. A similar stage has been reached in Japan, though Nippon presumably is capable of standing off collapse longer than is Germany.

However, whether the militarists or the moderates control the new Japanese government, we must figure on having to bring Japan to terms the hard way. Nippon's war resources are badly battered, and she is incapable of repairing the damage, but while she is definitely on the defensive she is able to offer fierce resistance.

Still, I think this much we can say: Once we have driven the last nail in Hitler's coffin, the road to Japan's defeat will not be unduly long.

DEMS PREPARE TO VOTE FOR FOURTH TERMTruman Boomed For Vice President Job Although Wallace Fights On

By JACK BELL
CHICAGO STADIUM, July 20—A Democratic convention that whipped itself into near-hysteria at every mention of the name Franklin Delano Roosevelt prepared to vote a fourth term nomination today, after it accepted by the President's radio-borne voice, and then plunged into an increasingly bitter battle over second place.

The lines were drawn by party leaders, headed by National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, for the nomination of 60-year-old Sen. Harry Truman of Missouri for vice president.

But a tussled, fighting Henry Wallace, who sweated out last night's keynoting convention session in an ordinary delegate's seat with the Iowa group, made it tough for the strategists who wanted to eliminate him and name the chairman of the senate's War Investigating committee on the first ballot.

Wallace got some unexpected help from Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, who was reported reliably to have sent the President a telegram declaring Mr. Roosevelt had made a "mistake" in naming Truman as a second choice.

Ickes, who is credited with having once urged Wallace to get out of the race, now was said to be backing the Iowa strongly because of his "liberal" views.

The vice president, who confirmed that such a telegram had been sent has reiterated his intention to remain in the race until the last ballot is counted.

Wallace stands firm.

Wallace told reporters crowding around the corn-stalk high Iowa standard:

"All I know is that there is strong evidence of a fine liberal sentiment in this convention and it is encouraging."

In an after-midnight speech to several hundred delegates from western states, Wallace said he had been called a "radical" because he had insisted that it was possible to raise the standard of living for all the people.

"There is a tremendous groundswell of liberal sentiment—possibly a groundswell the like of which this country has not seen in many years."

Salem Sailor Given
Posthumous Award

The Purple Heart medal awarded by the government posthumously to Fireman Second Class Joseph John Pink, 18, who was killed in action March 6 in the southwest Pacific has been sent to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pink of Summit st.

The citation accompanying the medal says it was awarded for "military merit and wounds received in action resulting in his death."

The Salem boy was killed instantly when his ship, a destroyer, was struck by an enemy shell somewhere in the Southwest Pacific, according to a letter received by the parents from the captain of the vessel on which their son served.

Burial with full military honors was made on an island, an American possession, in the South Pacific.

PLAN MONDAY RITES
FOR JOHN F. NOLAN

STUEBENVILLE, July 20—Funeral service for John F. Nolan, southeastern Ohio Democratic leader for 30 years who died yesterday while attending the party's national convention in Chicago, will be held here Monday.

Nolan suffered third degree burns and a heart attack when he stepped into a bath tub of scalding water in his room at the LaSalle hotel. He died in a hospital four hours later.

A coroner's jury ruled death was accidental. An inspection of the plumbing and shower disclosed everything in order. Detective Thomas Barton of central police station reported.

Nolan was a powerful figure in state Democratic circles and had served as chairman of the Jefferson county organization for 30 years. He was attending his seventh consecutive national party convention as a delegate-at-large.

GUAM ATTACKS
ARE INCREASED"Barrage" Shelling of Former U. S. Outpost May
Foreshadow Invasion

(By Associated Press)
U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, July 20.—Battleships, thundering for four straight days at Guam—one of the war sectors so gravely worrying Japan's emperor that the Tojo cabinet resigned—have carried the unprecedented assault into the "barrage" phase.

The term, often applied to screen operations for landing troops, was used for the first time by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz in his reports on 15 straight days of bombing and shelling the former U. S. outpost in the Marianas.

"Our battleships, cruisers and destroyers laid down an intense barrage against defensive positions on the island," Nimitz said in a Wednesday press release which also added two new attacks by carrier planes, dropping 468 tons of explosives.

The fiery bombing of Guam already has more than tripled the continuity of the attacks which preceded the invasion of Saipan. 125 miles to the north.

Wednesday's report covered naval and air attacks Monday and Tuesday on pillboxes, gun emplacements, anti-aircraft batteries, enemy positions and supply areas.

Roto Island, between Guam and Saipan, was hit Monday by nearly 85 tons of carrier plane bombs and returning fliers reported the town of Roto as been wiped out.

Tuesday's warship shelling of Guam was the ninth. Carrier planes haven't missed a day since July 4 in blasting its defenses.

From the Southwest Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur today reported a growing bag of Japanese dead and captured. He added 582 Nipponese to the 787 previously announced as slain while trying unsuccessfully to break out of a British New Guinea trap west of Wewak.

Having failed frontally, the Japanese now are attempting infiltration inland through foothills of the Torricelli mountains on the right flank, hopeful of finding a way out for 45,000 men.

MacArthur also announced 871 Japanese were killed or captured during the five-day conquest of Newmofor Island in Dutch New Guinea's Geelvink bay—the general's westernmost position on his way back to the Philippines.

Nazis Near Breaking Point
In Fierce Battle With Reds

BY DANIEL DE LUCE
MOSCOW, July 20.—The German army showed signs of breaking in the hotly contested battleground west of the Niemen river before East Prussia today as seven fronts flamed in battle.

(The German radio said Russian troops had reached Augustow, at the base of the Suwalki triangle which was annexed to East Prussia out of Polish territory in 1939. The town is eight miles from the pre-1939 frontier of East Prussia.)

In the south the Russians for the first time had smashed through the Bug river defense which from 1939 to 1941 formed the dividing line between Russia and German-held Poland.

In the newest of their power-packed offensives near the Latvian republic's northeast corner, the Third Baltic army crossed the Velikaya river south of Ostrov and made swift progress toward middle Latvia, the frontier only nine miles away.

Reds Show Air Strength

The Soviet air force was out in a strength never before equalled, giving sure cover for masses of tanks, cavalry and infantry which swarmed upon the Germans from the western Bug river to the bogs of the north.

The scope of the 600-mile front made it difficult to set apart the most significant developments, but the offensive in the south where the main forces may bypass Lwow, and the wedge between Bialystok and Brest Litovsk to the north made it appear the march to Warsaw has begun.

The First Ukrainian army, after capturing Sokal, 45 miles north of Lwow, and bridging the Bug, appeared to be spearheading toward the big Polish cities of Chelm and Lublin, milestones on the way to Warsaw. Sokal is 185 miles southwest of Warsaw.

NAZI LEADER
ONLY SLIGHTLY
HURT, REPORTLt. Gen. Schmudt, Hitler's
Chief Aide, Among 3
Seriously Injured

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, July 20.—Berlin announced that Adolf Hitler was burned and bruised in an unsuccessful bomb attempt on his life today.

Three of Hitler's military leaders were seriously injured, while his chief military advisor Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl was less seriously hurt along with five other generals and two admirals.

The broadcast announcement did not give the scene of the attack, but it obviously took place while Hitler was surrounded by high members of the military staff—perhaps at Hitler's headquarters.

The announcement came 15 hours after Tokyo's announcement of the fall of Premier Hideki Tojo, and Berlin said Hitler after the attack received Benito Mussolini, a third member of the ill-starred trio who led the Axis into war.

Schmudt Seriously Hurt

Among the seriously injured, Berlin said, was Lt. Gen. Schmudt, chief of the German army's personnel department and chief military aide de camp to Hitler for several years.

Two lieutenant colonels named Brandt and Borgmann, and a "co-laborer" named Berger also were listed as seriously injured.

Slightly injured were these: Generals Jodl, Hitler's personal military aide; Karl Bodenschatz, chief of staff of the German air force; Buhle, Heusinger and Walter Scherrf.

Admirals Voss and Von Puttkamer.

Reichsmarshal Herman Goerring at once went to Hitler upon learning of what had happened, the Berlin broadcast added.

Schmudt was chief military adjutant to Hitler in the days of Munich and had since remained close to the Fuehrer. He was at the Brenner pass conference of Hitler and Benito Mussolini, March 18, 1940, which preceded Italy's declaration of war upon the Allies.

Resumption of Ohio
Fair In 1945 Seen

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, July 20.—State Agricultural Director John T. Brown, chairman of the Ohio Fair Relocation committee, indicated today resumption of the state fair next year might be possible if "everything goes according to plan."

The annual exposition was discontinued after the United States entered the war and the fairgrounds was leased to the Army Air forces until one year after the war's duration. The fair relocation committee was appointed by the governor to recommend a new permanent site.

Brown said the sites under consideration had been narrowed to "only a few" from a field of 20.

He pointed out that once a site was agreed upon, the location must be approved by the post-war planning commission, Gov. John W. Bricker and finally the legislature.

"However, I believe that once a site finally has been bought by the state there is no need to wait for the last brick to be in place in the buildings to hold a fair," Brown said.

"The first year—which might very well be next year if everything goes according to plan—the fair could be held in tents if necessary," he declared.

AIR BLOWS ON
REICH CONTINUE2,000-Plane Armada Hits
German Targets Third Straight Day

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, July 20.—In great, coordinated attacks on Germany for the third straight day, 2,000 British based American planes bombed a profusion of oil and airplane plants around Leipzig and another fleet from Italy pummeled airdromes in the Munich and Friedrichshafen areas today.

The skies of central Germany were blackened by more than 1,200 Flying Fortresses and Liberators and up to 750 fighters. An armada of like strength leveled objectives around Munich and from Saarbrücken on the French frontier to Schweinfurt in southeast Germany yesterday.

In the attack from Italy Liberators bombed the Maybach shop, which makes tank engines, the Zeppelin works and the Lowenthal airdrome, all in the immediate outskirts of Friedrichshafen.

Fortresses, with Lightning escort, hit Memmingen airdrome 70 miles southwest of Munich. A small formation also bombed Badwörthshofen airdrome, 45 miles southwest of Munich.

Only a few enemy aircraft broke through the fighter escort to attack the heavies, Rome dispatches said.

RAF heavy bombers streamed across the channel in daylight against the robot bomb platform of northern France after bombing caves housing the missiles at Thiverny, 30 miles northeast of Paris, at dusk.

Waves of Marauder medium bombers were reported over the battle in Normandy.

BRITISH TANKS SLASH AHEAD
In Fight With Nazis At Caen

By WES GALLAGHER
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 20.—British armor slashing forward in several directions has cut into good tank fighting country on a broad front five miles southeast of Caen and the Germans have been unable to stabilize their lines in the third day of the offensive despite their best efforts. Supreme headquarters announced today.

Heavy fighting was raging, however, around a German anti-tank screen in the Emieville-Frenouville area from two to three and a half miles southwest of Troarn, a railway center eight miles east of Caen, but it was not clear whether he was going to risk a major battle in the British were reported to have swept through the Troarn railway station just outside the town, and British tanks—led by a man once the prisoner of Marshal Erwin Rommel—were engaged in hot combat inside Bourguebus, five miles southeast of Caen.

Meanwhile, a special communiqué announced, French underground activity has been joined by an underground revolt in Belgium.

Just short of Vimont the armored drive led by Lt. Gen. Sir Richard Nugent O'Connor—who was captured in the African desert in 1941 but escaped from an Italian prison camp—lashed into battered German positions after carving out a four-mile-wide spearhead south from the vicinity of Troarn, east of Caen.

Comparative quiet was registered on the American front except for local advances between St. Lo and Periers which took three villages, the Supreme command announced. A dispatch from Associated Press War Correspondent Hal Boyle said American patrols crossed the Ay river in the coastal sector and other forces clashed with Germans entrenched in Lessay, western hinge of the Nazi line.

Fighting raged on a bulging 10-mile front from southwest of Caen across to the vicinity of Troarn as the British drove remnants of five and a half enemy divisions back toward Paris and the Seine. Heavy fighting was reported at the farthest announced points of advance—the outskirts of Troarn and near Vimont.

"A complete train carrying flying bombs in eastern France was destroyed by French forces of the interior," the special communiqué said.

EMPEROR CALLS FOR FORMATION
OF NEW GROUPNames Statesman Kido To Pick Leader to Cope
With War Threat

(By Associated Press)
Japan, smarting under repeated American victories in the Pacific which have brought the war to her very doorstep, was shaken today by a stunning government upheaval as Tokyo announced the resignation of Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo and his entire cabinet.

Fall of the government of the boastful little militarist was disclosed in an official announcement which said Emperor Hirohito had called in the elder statesman Marquis Koichi Kido to consult on forming a "more powerful cabinet" to cope with the critical war situation now confronting Japan.

Some hours after this announcement, a terse Tokyo bulletin said Lt. Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, governor-general of Korea, and Adm. Mutsu-masa Yonai, a former premier, had been ordered "to form the succeeding cabinet." A broadcast dispatch to Japanese areas added that important news—probably the formation of the new government—was expected "late tonight."

Designation of Koiso and Yonai to select a government apparently was an outgrowth of conferences which Tokyo earlier said Kido—lord keeper of the privy seal—had held with many senior Japanese statesmen.

Tojo's Future Uncertain

The resignation of Tojo, who sent the Japanese against Pearl Harbor less than two months after he assumed the post of premier in October, 1941, was announced in a series of broadcast dispatches by Domei, official Japanese agency.

Tojo, generally considered his nation's supreme war lord and in the American eye the personification of Japanese imperialism, apparently now is stripped entirely of power.

Tokyo announced Tuesday that he had been relieved as chief of the army general staff—a development that followed by one day a shakeup in the Japanese naval command. These changes came simultaneously with Tojo's announcement to the Japanese people of the loss of Saipan, important island base approximately 1,300 miles southeast of the Japanese homeland.

His resignation as premier carried with it resignation from his concurrent post of minister of war.

A Domei dispatch recorded by The Associated Press said the 59-year-old Tojo gathered together the resignations of all his ministers and presented them along with his own, to the emperor at the Imperial Palace.

TRICK OF THE YEAR

The Democratic tub thumpers now have gathered the crowd for the professor's spiel on the political leopard that changes its spots, swallows its own tail and walks through fire without singeing its fur. This is the biggest attraction on the Chicago midway in August, 1944, an educational feature that must be seen by young and old to be appreciated.

By a twist of the wrist, according to the spiel, the Democratic party is going to transform itself by vice presidential hocus-pocus. With no more effort than it takes to set a man adrift, it is going to change its hue from pink to alabaster white, meanwhile balancing a ball on its nose while singing "God Bless America" and drawing pictures of the promised land on a blackboard with colored chalk. Watch closely, ladies and gentlemen.

But the ladies and gentlemen will be suckers if they watch too closely. What it adds up to is simply this: That when the wand-waving and mysto-magic are over and the yokels have been duly impressed, it will be the same old party as before, no matter who winds up with the title of vice president, or whose collar he happens to be wearing. Franklin D. Roosevelt has been equipped with two vice presidents so far, and they made about as much difference in his way of doing things as the spare tire on the White House automobile. And as far as the possibility of the Democratic vice presidential nominee becoming president is concerned, the President has a word for that. It's icky. The Democratic party this fall is going to run Mr. Roosevelt, not his vice presidential candidate.

A GENERAL'S WORD IS TOO MUCH

Gen. Montgomery, fresh from directing the capture of Caen, is latest among top military officials to hold out hope for Allied victory in Europe this year. Germany's defeat, he guesses, is "quite likely".

It would be better all around if Gen. Montgomery, Gen. Eisenhower and other high military officials would quit guessing about the end of the war. Their wishful thinking is taken too seriously. A general's word for it is too much.

Subsequent official measures to deflate civilian hopes, such as the triple-barreled accusation by Gen. Marshall, Admiral King and Gen. Arnold that civilians are relaxing their war efforts, are bound to sound like kill-joyism after statements like Gen. Montgomery's. Civilians can't reconcile the disparity between official spokesmen who say the end is in sight and those who say it isn't.

Common sense makes it clear that the end isn't in sight and can't be in sight till the German army disintegrates—a job not even fairly begun on the western front, far from finished on the Russian front and proceeding at a moderate pace in Italy. The war in Europe might be over in 1944, but with less than six months to go, the odds grow longer every day.

It would save much confusion and might even save some lives if generals, when tempted to guess about the end of the war, would guess about horse races instead.

JAPAN'S POST-WAR PLANS

Cabinet trouble and military shifts among Japan's war lords make sharp reminders that the Japanese have post-war plans, too. They will not intentionally be caught napping in the moments of decision that lie ahead.

There is the same possibility in Japan's case that existed in Germany in 1918—the possibility of substituting diplomatic skill for military force. While it is not to be imagined that the time has come, it may be imagined that the Japanese realize it is measurably closer than it was a year ago.

For the very reason that Japan is supposed to fight to the bitter end, its leaders are likely to seek peace whenever it becomes clear to them that the war in its current phase has become too much for them. The Japanese know how Germany did it in 1918. They know how strong the temptation would be for the United States to let matters drift into another Pearl Harbor incident. They undoubtedly have figured out exactly how they will do it—or try to do it—if they get a chance. After all, the Japanese have no desire to eliminate themselves as an Asiatic power, if by being patient and biding their time they could get part of what they want now and a chance to get more later.

The current cabinet shifting and face-saving may not mean anything, but eventually Japan will rearrange its front men with a view to convincing the United States that repentance has set in and unconditional surrender would be too harsh for a nation which henceforth means to do the right thing and never take up the sword again.

THE RUSSIAN TOUCH

Russian realism in World War II has reached a symbolic climax with the march of more than 57,000 German prisoners of war through the streets of Moscow. The procession was headed by upward of a hundred captured generals, colonels and other officers.

In keeping with the occasion—more of the Russian touch—there was no exultation. Spectators had been instructed to heap no abuse on the Hitlerites. They merely watched them shuffle past under the guns and bayonets of their Russian guards. It was not a parade. There were no bands. The marchers did not even keep step. They just walked through the streets of the capital of the country they tried to destroy—on their way farther east, to live miserably in prison camps.

There have been fancier ideas about how to convince the Germans they were misled by the superman myth, but Russian realism probably has hit upon the best one—a long, humiliating walk between lines of people who refused to take the myth seriously.

BRITISH WAR DOGS HELP FIND MINES IN FRANCE

BRITISH DOGS OF VARIED BREEDS have been of great help to the Allied forces in France in locating spots where the retreating Germans have planted mines. Under favorable conditions twenty dogs will clear a lane sixteen yards wide by 200 yards deep in half an hour. The handler probes and locates the mine which "Jobs", a Labrador, has pointed out (left). At right are some of the war dogs with mines. (International)

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The Barometer Blues

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THESE ARE the days that try fat men's skulls. Never underestimate what external factors are doing to your health, your feeling of wellbeing, your inspiration, your working ability. Maybe you are a leptosome, as the scientists say. In other words, do you have barometer blues?

Dr. Clendinging will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

In Italy when the hot sirocco wind blows over the country from the parched African mainland, the number of crimes of violence rise. And the prevalence of such weather conditions is actually used as a defense in murder trials. It temporarily takes away the mind, so the people say.

In my native land of the middle west between the Alleghenies and the Rockies in the months of July, August and September we have a continuous sirocco set of conditions.

Reaction to Hot Weather

There are, of course, all kinds of people and some claim to like hot weather. They say they thrive on it and do their best work in the summer. Personally I can only look at them with doubt and despair. I am a cold weather man myself. I can plan work when the cold winds blow and dream that I may some day complete my great opus on diagnosis.

But from May to October in the beautiful land of Missouri it is quite a job to get me to drag myself to the supper table, let alone anything else. "Any country," as Jim Lane, of Kansas, once said, "which is good for corn is bad for human beings."

It has been supposed that the thyroid gland has something to do with these individual differences. We know that the thyroid is the energy regulator of the body. The person with an overactive thyroid is always warm, throws the bedclothes off in cold weather and perspires on New Year's day, while the low thyroid secretor is always chilly, the extreme example being the myxedema patient who wears flannel underwear in July.

But above such personal variations the mass of mankind reacts more or less the same to weather changes. Huntington, one of the earliest students of the subject of weather, made a study of several thousand mill operatives in New England and in the Southern States and also of 1,700 students at Annapolis and West Point. His measurement of efficiency was productivity and he found that a maximum temperature of 68 F.

and a minimum of 38 F. is the most favorable for the maximum effort. Above and below those points (outside temperature) production dropped. Humidity, wind movement and especially temperature changeableness from day to day were also factors.

Sensible Summer Clothing

While our comfort or discomfort in hot weather depends upon those four factors—temperature, humidity, barometric pressure and air movement—we have defense mechanism against only one of them—temperature. But our bodies have not nearly as good cooling systems as our automobiles.

Modern ways of life have done a great deal to adjust us to the American summers. Not only the electric fan and the air cooling systems, but all our clothing and our food, and the amount of work we do. And sunstroke, once an every day occurrence in any city in the summer, is now a rarity. Our fathers and mothers used to imitate the English and wear coats and stiff collars all summer.

I am for shirts with short sleeves as de rigueur for men in summer. And I am strong for slacks and shorts and knaps and bare stomachs for the girls—at dinner parties or anywhere. Let's face facts—summer is hell in the United States. Chronic diseases all flare up in the summer—tuberculosis, diabetes, heart disease. Dress light, eat light, drink light, think light. Don't try to push your poor old mind into the creation of a masterpiece. If summer's here can fall be far behind? Wait!

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendinging has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendinging, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FALSE TEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Don't let a morsel of food from your Victory Garden rot or spoil. Preserve all your family can eat, but no more. Share what's left with others. This booklet tells you how.

Rules to observe when you can:

1. Don't can wilted, overripe or partly spoiled food... it won't keep!
2. Don't prepare more than your canner will hold. Food spoils if it stands around!
3. Don't pack too tight, especially corn and greens. Tightly packed jars heat through too slowly.
4. Don't lose track of time. Follow reliable timetables to the minute for successful canning.
5. Don't stand hot jars on their heads. You may break the seal.
6. Don't place hot jars on a cold surface or in a draft. They may crack.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR
"Hello," saluted Dr. Willoughby. "Isn't it early for a call, Mr. Dakin?"
The Chief shrugged. Bradford regarded her with a furious misery. He seemed thinner, almost emaciated.
"I don't know what you can expect Nora to tell you," fumed John F. frigidly. "Patricia, sit down!"
"Patricia?" said Pat. She sat down. "Patricia" was a bad sign. John F. hadn't called her Patricia in such a formal voice since the last time he'd used his old-fashioned razor strop on her, and that had been many many years ago. She did not look at Bradford once; and after that first unhappy glance, he did not look at her.
Dakin nodded pleasantly to Ellery. "Glad to see you, Mr. Smith. Now if we're all set—Cart, did you want to say something?"
"Yes," exploded Cart. "I wanted to say that I'm in an impossible position. I wanted to say—He made a helpless gesture and stared out the window at the snow-covered lawn.
"Now, Mrs. Haight," said Dakin, blinking at Nora, "would you mind telling us just what happened New Year's Eve as you saw it? I've got everybody else's story—"
"Mind? Why should I mind?" It came out froggy, and Nora cleared her throat. And began to talk shrilly and rapidly. "But I can't really tell you anything. I mean, all that I saw—"
"When your husband came around to you with the tray of cocktails, didn't he sort of pick out one special glass for you? I mean, didn't you want to take one glass and he fixed it so you took another?"
"How can I remember a thing like that?" asked Nora indignantly. "And that's a—nasty implication!"
"Mrs. Haight," The Chief's voice was suddenly chilly. "Did your husband ever try to poison you before New Year's Eve?"
Nora jumped up. "No!"
"You're sure, Mrs. Haight?" insisted Dakin.
"Of course I'm sure!"
"There's nothing you can tell us about the fights or arguments you and Mr. Haight been having?"
"Fights?" Nora was livid now. "I suppose it's that horrible Dr. Freckle—"
The "or" was so odd even Cart Bradford turned from the window. Nora had uttered the word with a sudden sickish emphasis and glared directly at Ellery, Dakin and Bradford glanced quickly at him, and Pat looked terrified.
"Or what, Mrs. Haight?" asked Dakin.
"Nothing. Nothing! Why don't you let Jim alone?" Nora was crying hysterically now. "All of you!"
Dr. Willoughby came in with his big man's light step; Ludie's face, white and anxious, peered over his shoulder, then vanished.
"Nora," he said with concern. "Crying again? Dakin, I warned you—"
"Can't help it, Doc," said the Chief with dignity. "I got my job to do, and I'm doing it. Mrs. Haight, if there's nothing you can tell us that helps your husband—"
"He didn't do it, I tell you!"
"Nora," said Dr. Willoughby insistently. "Then I'm afraid we got to do it, Mrs. Haight."
"Do what, for heaven's sake?"
"Arrest your husband."
"Arrest—Jim? Nora began to laugh, her hands in her hair. Dr. Willoughby tried to take her hands in his but she pushed him away. "But you can't arrest Jim! He didn't do it! You haven't a thing on him!"

"I'm sorry, Nora," mumbled Cart Bradford. Then Nora screamed at Pat: "I knew too many people knew about it! That's what comes of taking strangers into the house!"
"Nora!" gasped Pat. "Darling—"
"Wait a moment, Nora," began Ellery.
"Don't you talk to me!" Nora shrieked. "You're against him because of those three letters! They wouldn't arrest Jim if you hadn't told them about the letters!"
Something in Ellery's gaze seemed to penetrate her hysteria, and Nora broke off with a gasp, snarling against Dr. Willoughby, an enormous new fear leaping into her eyes.
"What letters?" demanded Dakin. "No! I didn't mean—"
Cart ran over to her and seized her hand. "Nora! What letters?" he asked fiercely.
"No!" groaned Nora.
"You've got to tell me! If there are letters, you're concealing evidence—"
"Mr. Smith! What do you know about this?" demanded Chief Dakin. "Letters?" Ellery looked puzzled. Pat rose and pushed Bradford. He staggered back. "You let Nora alone!" said Pat in a passionate voice.
Her violence kindled the Prosecutor's resentment. He snapped. "You're not going to presume upon my friendship! Dakin, search this house, and the house next door!"
"Should have done it long ago, Cart," remarked the Chief mildly as he disappeared.
"Cart," declared John F. in very low tones, "you're never to come here again. Do you understand?"
Prosecutor Bradford looked as if he were going to cry.
And Nora collapsed in Dr. Willoughby's arms with a moan.
With Bradford's frigid permission Nora was taken upstairs to her bedroom by Dr. Willoughby, Hermy and Pat.
"Smith," Bradford did not turn. "I've got to warn you—if you're contributing to the suppression of evidence—"
"Evidence?" echoed Mr. Queen. "Those letters!"
Cart spun around, his mouth working. "You've been in my way ever since you came here," he said hoarsely. "You've wormed your way into this house—"
"Here, here," interposed Ellery. "Mind your verbs."
Cart stopped, his hands two fists. Ellery went to the window. Chief Dakin was deep in conversation with little Dick Gobbin, the patrolman, on the Haight porch. The two policemen went into the house.
Fifteen minutes later Messrs Queen and Bradford were still standing in the same positions. Pat came in with a noise. Her face shocked them. She went directly to Ellery. "The most awful thing's happened." And she burst into tears.
"Pat! For heaven's sake!"
"Nora—Nora is—!" Pat's voice blurred and shook.
Dr. Willoughby said from the doorway: "Bradford?"
"What's happened?" asked the Prosecutor tensely.
And then Chief Dakin came in, and his face was like a mask. He was carrying Nora's hatbox and the fat tan book with the neat gilt title, Edgcomb's Toxicology.
Dakin stopped. "Happened?" he asked quickly. "What's this?"
Dr. Willoughby said: "Nora palace at 11:40 a. m. July 18 (Japanese time). Kido, 55, formerly was minister of home defense. A graduate of the Kyoto Imperial university, he has held various government offices in the past 30 years, among them posts in the agriculture and commerce department, the fisheries bureau, education minister 1937-38, and welfare minister 1938-39.

None of the Japanese broadcasts said anything about Tojo's future. Presumably if he is not named to form another cabinet, another militarist will be chosen.

Kido never has been linked with the militarists, has concerned himself solely with domestic issues, and never has been associated with foreign affairs.

Seek Competent Leader

A Tokyo broadcast this morning telling the Japanese people of the government changes indicated Kido's main purpose was to find a competent leader for the next government.

The Japanese homeland was told that because of "the counter-offensive of the United States" the war situation has become more and more critical, and that therefore Tojo realized that it is appropriate to change the feelings of the people and march straight forward with the fullest speed for the destruction of the enemies, the United States and Britain.

Domel first announced Tojo's resignation last night in a "hold for release" dispatch broadcast to Japanese occupied areas. This announcement said the Tojo cabinet apologized for the "government's" meager power to the men on the fighting front and the 100,000,000 people of Japan.

Later cancelled, this statement then was followed by a revised version which said the Japanese board of information had explained the resignation with this statement:

"Since the start of the great war the government, as one commander body with the Imperial headquarters, has carried out every and repeated efforts toward the prosecution of the war; however, at this critical decisive wartime, it acknowledges the importance of making way for a more powerful cabinet in order to renew the public spirit and to strike toward an all-out effort for the prosecution of the war."

One Domel dispatch declared the Tojo cabinet was "unable to keep up with the intensity of the burning war spirit of the people" and quoted the president of the Japan Steel Tube Corp. as declaring:

"In order to be able to work at maximum pitch we need a much stronger practical setup. A powerful central body is needed to accelerate unitary production."

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, July 20.—If you hang around with major leaguers, you'll hear plenty of tall tales about the "good old days" in baseball and how kids used to be happy to play with a home-made ball on a field grubbed out of a briar patch.

And likely as not you'll hear that kids nowadays have to be pampered and won't play under conditions the old-timers regarded as normal. . . . In controversy of such statements, we present the following letter from Wendell Laime, the Newport, Vt., sports scribe:

READ IT AND WEEP

"I thought you might like to hear about the game the Baron Town baseball team played at East Hardwick the other day. Barton lost the game, 18 to 13, but the score does not necessarily indicate poor playing on either side. The condition of the playing field, which was a cow pasture, was accountable for the high score and many errors. The cows were not around at the time, but there was evidence they had been there that morning. A hit ball which would look like an easy out would hit a bump and bounce over the player's head, far out of quick retrieving. Even the catchers had to run over a knoll after foul balls.

SPECIAL TALENTS

The fence which surrounded the pasture was another bad feature. Balls hit through the fence would go for a home run, which even on any good pasture would not have gone for a double. There were five pitchers, who had their troubles, too. They couldn't see the plate. The cows hadn't got around to do any grazing in that particular spot.

NO APOLOGIES NEEDED

"But don't let this yarn fool you. Some of the most picturesque ball parks in America are to be found in Vermont."

MIDWAY GRANGE

A meeting of Midway grange was held recently at the hall to work on the county Red Cross scrapbook project.

Plans were made by the juveniles for a coverish picnic at the hall at 2 p. m. Sunday. A ball game will be a feature.

The following program was presented at the meeting: Piano selections, Patty Lou Cook; reading, Brother Shelby; play, 4-H group led by Mrs. Lucille Cook, and a humorous debate, "A Man Should Be Able To Cook," by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Farmer.

Unity grange will sponsor an exchange program at the hall July 23. The cookie contest will be held at this time and the articles to be made from a man's shirt will be submitted.

years—among the delegates to this convention," he said.

"There is a fresh wind blowing through the United States. We can be sure it will rise ever stronger—until we are using all our manpower, resources and technical skill to produce a higher standard of living for all our people.

"That's what I believe, and I have been called a radical for it. But I have never thought that standing for that made me a radical."

While Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma was shouting challenge after challenge to Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, two men of might in Democratic councils gave the inner circle's answer to the vice presidential puzzle.

Said Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City's vote-producing organization:

"If President Roosevelt's for Truman, I'm for him."

Echoed Mayor Ed Kelly of the potent Chicago-Illinois aggregation, "Of course, Roosevelt's for Truman."

There were others who thought the reportedly labor-approved Truman a "cinch."

Still Others Disagree

But others begged to disagree, including thoroughly aroused Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, who demanded to know if the convention was going to be "boss controlled."

Presumably Pepper, an ardent administration supporter, meant by Hague-Kelly, Edward J. Flynn, New York national committeeman, and Hannegan. The latter has made no bones about the fact that he doesn't want Wallace, would like to see Truman named.

Jittery convention officials wondered, too, what sort of charges Sen. Major Leader Alben Barkley was making in a Roosevelt nominating speech which he wrote in advance, then drew back for last-minute revisions. Barkley planned to confer with Wallace today.

Still fresh in the minds of party leader were the caustic criticisms leveled at the President's tax bill veto several months ago by Barkley. They wondered if he was angered over the "squeeze play" being worked against him and other vice presidential candidates in efforts to force "favorite sons" out during the lengthy count expected on the first vice presidential roll call.

There was a certain amount of anger attributed also to War Demobilization Director James F. Byrnes, who quit the second place ticket after he got a thumbs down from President Roosevelt. This took the form of a communication to Hannegan listing Truman as second choice to Wallace, and 45-year old William O. Douglas, of the Supreme court, as third.

The Douglas reference apparently died on the vine but the Truman boom rolled despite furious demands from Pepper and Sen. Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania that Hannegan display the letter.

Torn asunder by the battle over the vice presidency, the Democrats also were having their troubles trying to please balking southern delegations and still get some kind of racial statement in their platform that would not alienate northern Negro votes. They were agreed on a peace preservation plank calling for an international organization clothed with authority to use armed force, if necessary.

Archbishop Spellman On Tour of Nations Abroad

NEW YORK, July 20.—Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York, Roman Catholic military vicar of the armed forces, left New York by plane yesterday to visit neutral and warring nations in Europe, Africa and Asia, it was learned today.

The Vatican announced yesterday that the archbishop was expected to arrive there sometime before the end of the week or "one of the regular visits to the holy see required of bishops."

It was the second time, at least, during the war that Hitler narrowly missed death.

Place Not Disclosed

The first time was Nov. 8, 1939, when a bomb exploded in the Munich beer hall just after the Fuehrer had left a celebration marking his ill-fated Putsch of 1923.

The Berlin broadcasts did not immediately name the time or place of the bombing attempt. Hitler has been reported spending a great deal of his time on his mountaintop at Berchtesgaden. The captured Gen. Hofmeister said it was there that Hitler recently held a conference of 150 generals and admirals to outline his strategy. The Hofmeister statement, as published yesterday, described Hitler then as of swollen face, of low and jumbled voice.

For a dictator, however, Hitler's life has been singularly free of recorded attempts to assassinate him.

The most notable episode developing from internal opposition to Hitler was in June, 1934, shortly after he had taken power in Germany, when he led the ruthless "blood purges" of Capt. Ernst Roehm and his associates.

Roehm's movement was described as a "rebellious riot" in the Reichstag session which Hitler summoned to hear his accounting.

Helmuth Hirsch, a 21-year-old Jew, was arrested Dec. 20, 1936, however, on what informed persons in Berlin at the time said were charges of carrying explosives for the purpose of making an attempt on the life of a high German personage. Berlin dispatches at the time said his intended victim may have been Hitler.

Hirsch was executed despite intercession on his behalf by the United States government. Hirsch was a naturalized U. S. citizen, who was arrested at Berlin upon his arrival from Prague, Czechoslovakia.

In the Munich beer hall bombing, Hitler left the hall just nine minutes before a time bomb exploded in a pillar of the hall near the rostrum where he had spoken to his party followers. Six persons were killed and more than 60 injured in the blast.

An arrest was made for the bombing, but Berlin authorities never announced the outcome of their investigation. At the time the Gestapo attempted to pin responsibility on British agents.

The Statue of Freedom surmounting the dome of the Capitol at Washington is made entirely of bronze, and weighs 14,985 pounds.

BRITISH TANKS

Rommel was on the run again, the Caen plain. While British armor slugged into German anti-tank screens on the east, Canadians driving straight south from Caen swept through several villages, including Ifs and Cormelles, and at last reports were battling German units in Bourguibus, five miles below Caen. This advance secured the river docks at Caen for unrestricted use of the Allies.

Heavy armored battles were raging from a considerable distance south of these villages in an area to Troarn, eight miles to the east and north. Clashes also occurred between the Odon and Orne rivers and on the road southwest to Villers-Bocage. The Germans still held Noyers on the Villers-Bocage road, but the British advanced on the west.

INSULATED— BUT HOW?

Remember—there is no magic in the word "Insulation"

Before you insulate your home, be sure of an adequate insulation job by asking yourself these 6 questions:

1.—How Thick is the Insulation?

Thin insulation is only partially effective . . . Insist on a Full Thick Johns-Manville "Blown" Rock Wool job. All Home Insulation Co.'s Blown Rock Wool jobs conform to the U. S. Government standards for optimum operating efficiency of mineral wool.

2.—How Efficient Is It?

J-M Blown Rock Wool has a heat resistance per inch of thickness equal to or better than any home insulating material on the market.

3.—Is It Fireproof and Permanent?

J. M. "Blown" Rock Wool is a pure mineral wool, made from rock . . . won't burn, rot or decay. Demand a fireproof insulation; don't be misled by claims of "fire-resistant", etc.

4.—Can the Complete Home Be Satisfactorily Insulated?

Hundreds of home owners in the Salem area alone can testify to the complete and satisfactory insulation of their SIDE WALLS, as well as ceiling areas. The George Washington Shrine at Mount Vernon was insulated with mineral wool on the recommendation of the U. S. Government National Bureau of Standards.

5.—What Type of Insulation is Preferable?

The United States Government Department of the Interior states, "Generally, mineral materials are preferable because of their resistance to fire, electrical short circuits, moisture, termites, vermin and decay."—U. S. Bureau of Mines, Circular 7166.)

6.—How Reliable Is the Company Behind the Product?

Johns-Manville pioneered the blown rock wool industry, and for 25 years has been the insulation industry's leader. The Home Insulation Co. of Youngstown, has an exclusive contract with Johns-Manville for installation of their Type A "Blown" Rock Wool in this area.

Yanks Defeat St. Louis As Chicago Ends Boston "Jinx" With 5-4 Victory

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Louis had an answer to its attendance problem today in the 31,361 paid customers for the first two games of the Yankee-Browns series for the American league lead.

Although 31,361 represents a fair Sunday crowd in some big league towns, it is roughly 20 per cent of the Browns' total home draw and is calculated to ease the pain of last night's 6-5 setback by the New Yorkers.

Last night's fray could have been the key to the race although the season does not end until Oct. 1. If the Browns had won, their lead would have measured four games in the early stages of a long home stand.

Johnny Lindell's three-run homer was the big blow in a Yankee four-run rally giving Ernie Bonham his fourth straight.

Detroit went into a fourth-place tie by defeating Washington 2-1 as Stubby Overmire out-elbowed Dutch Leonard in 10 heats.

Chicago finally cracked Boston's "hex" after dropping 11 straight to the Red Sox and captured a 5-4 game on five runs in the fifth. Orval Grove got credit for his eighth victory, snapping Joe Bowman's five-game win streak.

Ken Keltner paced Cleveland to a 7-1 slaughter of Philadelphia with four hits for a perfect day.

Bucky Walters failed to go the route in a night game but kept intact his seven-game win streak as Reliever Arnie Carter took the loss in a 10-5 shellacking by Brooklyn.

Ken Raffensberger missed a shut-out by one inning but held on for Philadelphia's 4-2 edge over Pittsburgh's Nick Strincevich in a Shibe park night outing. Nate Andrews graduated into the 10-win class by hurling Boston to a 6-1 nod over Chicago with Bob Chipman suffering the defeat.

St. Louis and New York Nationals were not scheduled.

OHIO STATE FANS GET SUMMER VIEW OF 1944 ELEVEN'S

Coach Widdoes Lines Up Two Teams for Practice Tilt On Saturday

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, July 20—Ohio State university football fans will get their first formal look Saturday at the freshman-studded gridiron aggregation which will represent the Bucks next fall.

Six weeks of summer practice will be brought to a close with the annual intra-squad game and acting Head Coach Carroll Widdoes today selected six veterans of last year's squad, 15 freshmen and one sophomore without previous varsity experience to make up the starting lineups.

Freshmen will make up the starting ball-carrying brigades for both teams.

The "Scarlet" team, picked from a squad of 36, will consist of Jack Dugger and Trahan Dendia at the ends; Bill Willis and Robert McGinnis at tackles; George Neff and Bill Snyder at guards; Gordon Appleby at center; Tom Keane at quarterback; Dick Flanagan and Robert Brugge at halfbacks; and Ollie Cline at fullback. Appleby, Willis and Dugger were regulars last year and Neff was a reserve.

The "White" team will consist of Bobby Wallace and Dick Jackson at ends; Warren Amling and Ernest Cottrell at tackles; Paul Maltinsky and Bill Hackett at guard; Kendall Herron at center; John Ehrsam at quarterback; Gene Jancko and Tony Stranges at halfbacks; and Ben Boxwell at fullback.

Hackett was a regular last year and Maltinsky was a substitute center. Amling played on the Buck freshman squad in 1942 but was out of school last year.

THINKS IT'S BEST TO START PLAYERS IN THE LOW MINORS

Billy Evans, League Prexy, Says Rookies Learn More In Lower Leagues

By SKIPPER PATRICK NEW ORLEANS—President Billy Evans of the Southern association believes a young baseball player should start his professional campaigning in the bush leagues and try to work his way up the ladder gradually.

Evans thinks it was a "mistake" to start Richard ("Smiling Dick") Callahan, New Orleans prep school hurler signed by the Boston Red Sox for $15,000, in class AA ball. Callahan is pitching for the Louisville Colonels in the American association.

"Callahan must have a strong arm—that's what all big league scouts look for—but I think it's a mistake to start the boy at Louisville," says Evans. "He should have been sent to Roanoke or Rocky Mount."

Evans believes it's too great a strain on most young fellows to start in the majors or class double-A.

"I dare say that Callahan is a fine prospect," says Billy, "but there is so much to be learned about baseball and pitching that it is better to take it in easy stages, without the disappointments and discouragements."

"I recall the case of John Pesky. I signed him for Boston and might have put him in the Red Sox lineup between two veterans but instead I sent him to Roanoke. After one year he moved to Louisville and led the American association in batting. The next year he moved up to Boston and led the American league hitters. He went up the easy way."

Maybe Callahan is good enough to make the grade right off, but if he were my prospect I'd give him the same money and let him pitch in a league where he could build his confidence.

"I know that George Toporcer, who signed Callahan for Boston, will have many an anxious moment about this boy. Toporcer is very conscientious and has good judgment. Callahan must have shown him plenty, but when you give $15,000 to a boy you're out on a limb, and until the test is over you worry a lot."

Evans, once head of the Boston and Cleveland farm systems, says that "when people say Callahan has more natural ability than Howard Pollet they rate him high, for I was willing to give $10,000 for Pollet when he was in American Legion ball in New Orleans. Only thing that stopped me was the report that the boy had agreed to sign with Larry Gilbert of Nashville, and I didn't want to bid against Larry. The Cardinals got him for $5,000."

Mullins Seeking Win No. 4 Today

Mullins, still in the battle for third round honors with but one loss in four games, will be trying to add another to their string against Jim's tonight in the second game at the park.

In the first game, the two teams made up of High school talent clash again. Sheens and Paxsons, each playing with three losses and one win this round, will vie at 5 p. m.

Mullins, starting on the hard end of the schedule this round, face an improved Jim's aggregation in a try for their fourth win. Jim's, is now tied with three other squads, the News, Sheens, Paxsons, for last place and is seeking the second win of the round in five games.

In order to figure in round running this time, Mullins must take Jim's, China and Demings by the end of next week.

Today that Mrs. Dorothy Vredenberg, national committee secretary, won the admiring glances of women delegates with "the perfection of her lavender colored one-piece dress, decorated with a tan jabot." He thought this pretty good—well, any way, good for a fellow whose specialty is politics. But a little later Mrs. Vredenberg took a seat near the press section. The reporter sent the mention up to her with the note—"Dorothy: Is this correct?"

"Not lavender but plum, not a tan jabot—it's pink. Not a one-piece dress—it's a suit, and it's not even a jabot—it's a blouse."

York is one of the oldest settlements in England.

Since 1857, all land in the Netherlands East Indies has been owned by Indonesians, and cannot be sold to other nationals.

Metropolitan Chicago has about 2,000 churches.
